Hola!

This is Kaypacha with the Pele Report for November 29th of 2017.

Kaypacha is screen sharing Solar Fire Software.*

I thought I would give a little astrology lesson here today, since I'm in my hotel room in-between countries. So, let's look at what's going on here a little bit. First of all, let's go back just a little bit to, I talked to you last week and said, Mercury coming up to Saturn, November 27th. A couple days ago just had Mercury conjunct Saturn and guess what? See that little 'S' there, stationary, yes indeed. On Saturday, December 2nd, Mercury stations and it still conjuncts Saturn at 29 degrees, 27 minutes, it's only 2 degrees away.

And then a couple more days later, guess what? It goes retrograde and comes back over it on December 6th. So, it's two solid weeks of Mercury conjunct Saturn coming up and approaching it, then going retrograde going back over it. Now let's go a little farther. You can see that Mercury is going to go back to 13 degrees before it goes stationary. There it is stationary at 13 degrees, just after the Solstice. And then it's going to catch back up again, and we're have a 3rd Mercury conjunct Saturn on January 12th. There you can see it goes, kabang. In January, you can see we have this little party happening here in Capricorn. (*laughing)
Mercury/Saturn/Lilith/Pluto/Sun and Venus, it's all going on in Capricorn through December. It's going to be pretty grounding for us in very many ways. Grounding like I say is starting already right now. I'm going to be talking today about Mercury/Saturn, because that's what's happening. And you can see the original conjunctions here are happening in Sagittarius – the final one is happening there in Capricorn.

Besides that, let's see what else is going on? Here we have today, you can see that the Moon is over here in Aries. We still have Mars in opposition to Uranus, as in anything can happen. (*laughing) Mars is exactly opposite Uranus on Friday. Here it comes, 25/08, 29/09 – boom!

What else is going on? You can see, watch this Moon now, a couple more days and full Moon at 11 degrees, 40 minutes of Gemini, Sun at 11 degrees, 40 minutes Sagittarius. Look at this, see this little red line square? Neptune at 11 degrees of Pisces, out in a beautiful trine to Jupiter at 11 degrees of Scorpio - we're talking, 11, 11, 11. If you've got anything in your chart, anywhere around 11 degrees, but particularly in the mutable signs. What are the mutable signs? Gemini, Virgo, Sagittarius and Pisces. You're really going to be feeling this full Moon this weekend. This is really big time going on!

The other thing I want to talk about, I just want to look at the overall bigger picture of things, a little bit here. As you can see, Jupiter is coming up to square the Moon's Nodes. It's there now, but on Christmas day, it's almost exact, Jupiter square the South Node and the North Node at 15 degrees of Scorpio and Mars catching up to it. This is going on for a long period of time, because Jupiter moves more slowly. I want to talk about Jupiter squaring the Nodes. That's about it for now and let me look at the screen and talk at you face to camera.

Ok, it is a good morning Pele Report, yeah! I did this sucker last night when I got in here. I woke up because of jet lag in the middle of the night and I'm thinking, ah, forgot to say this, I forgot to say that, I forgot to say the other thing - so, I've got to do it again, ahhh! Don't you just hate that feeling? Anyway, I've got to go back and forth because if I'm back I'm a shadow and you can see the waves. But if I come forward you can see my face but you can't see the waves. So, I'm kind of going to go back and forth, back and forth. (*laughing) Just like what? The full Moon in Gemini, back and forth, back and forth. OMG, I've got the Moon at 11 degrees Gemini. Now I've got the full Moon on my frickin' Moon, whoa! Opposite the Sun, square Neptune, inconjunct Jupiter. So, what does this all mean?

This could be a long Pele Report because there's a lot to take into consideration here. First of all, we're entering the Age of Aquarius, we're leaving the patriarchy, these are huge, big cycles. So, the feminine is on the increase. The hierarchical dictatorship kind of stuff is breaking down to the level playing field, we've got all that going on.

Then we've got the Moon's Nodes in Leo, coming out of Aquarius. And what is that saying? That's a year and a half, I think I said that in the input here - May of 2017 to November of 2018. This is taking our air castles in the sky, our inventions, our ideas of the future, our future purpose and working with this Age of Aquarius, Aquarius rules the 11th house, down into creative self-expression. This is like taking it out of outer space (inter-galactic consciousness journeys) down into Leo, 5th house. The stage, the art, the music, the play. We've got to create something here. Not think about it, mentally masturbate about it, imagine it. This is the year of 2017 is what? The End of Illusion and Profound Revelation. We've had a year, we're coming into December, the last final month, this is a culmination of a year of Saturn going square Chiron. I did a whole video on that. Jupiter moving through Libra. Scorpio squaring Pluto, opposing Uranus, Mars opposite Uranus and Jupiter moving through Scorpio. It's not only the end of illusion and new profound revelation, but this is the time of what? Saying goodbye... letting it go. I see this month of December as this huge culmination of 2017 and all the shit that has gone down, ok. And all the revelations that we've had and maybe all the depressions and let downs.

What is the depression and let downs about? This is what really hit me. It is coming full steam on this full Moon. The square to Neptune. Neptune rules disillusion, Neptune rules dreams, fantasies, no boundaries, anything goes, anything is possible, innocent, naive, 'Yeah, everything is cool, it's all going to be ok.' No, it's not! (*laughing) This is where we get confused and Neptune rules confusion. Because in multi-dimensional, particularly the 4th and the 5th dimension, everything is cool, there is not polarity, there is no negativity, there's no plus/minus, good/bad, right/wrong in the 4th and 5th dimensions. So, you can have all the ideas you want around love, sex, partnership, money, future, past – it's all cool, great, have another hit. (*laughing) And then what? You go to the bank and the bank says, no. Or you don't show up at work and the boss says, no. There is, no, when it comes to Saturn in the 3rd dimension.

This Mercury/Saturn now can be a big, no. Like no, that's an illusion... no, that is not real... no, that is not possible. It can be, if you're flying off the ground and you're still pretending or you're in denial or you're avoiding reality in some way, shape or form, particularly in your relationships and your partnerships and with other people and you're still kind of pretending. This is where we get into the truth. Are you telling the truth? Are you hearing the truth? Truth is, and it can be little white lies, it can be little deceptions. It's, 'Oh sure, lets hang out together this weekend.' When you're just saying that, man. Friday and Saturday rolls around and you really think about it and, 'I just want to be alone. I'm too tired.'

The more, Mercury/Saturn can really be awake, it's all about mindfulness. And this mindfulness is watching every word that comes out. And it's listening to every word that comes in. And it's putting out the boundaries beforehand, so there's less disillusionment, there's less depression, there's less letting other people down, there's less letting yourself down because you haven't promised the world. And you haven't given away all of your time, energy and attention, money and this and that. Thinking that, oh yeah, oh yeah. So, in this way, it's end of illusion, it's the end of innocence. But this allows for the 5th house, North Node of the Moon in Leo to really make it happen. Just think that you're putting on a Shakespeare play, it's business putting on a play. It's business putting on a concert. It's business putting together a workshop. It's like, you've got to find the venue, the DJ, the music, the lights. You've got to find the right actors; actress and you've got to interview them. And you can't promise everybody the lead role because they're your friends and you want to be a nice person. So, it's like, 'Ok, you can be Hamlet and you can be Hamlet and you can be Hamlet and you can be Hamlet.’ Well, when you promise four people that they can be Hamlet and then you come back and go, ‘OMG, I’m sorry, man. I only need one Hamlet. So, goodbye, goodbye, goodbye.’ So, you just let three people down.

This is a time period; this time of December can be a time of reckoning. It’s a time of, ‘Ok, what did I promise in 2017? Can I deliver on it? And what do I want to create in 2018?’ This is where we get into this Jupiter square the Moon’s Nodes. Because it really is time, in 2018, to move forward. And that means letting go of the other three Hamlets and sticking with the one Hamlet. Scorpio, 8th house is close intimate partnerships and relationships. So, this has to be done, it’s got to be done. And this Mars opposite Uranus and we’re coming up to this Black Moon Lilith energy around the Solstice point and it is time to say goodbye, time to say goodbye. Time to say goodbye to places, to people, to illusions, to potentials that are not proving possible, yeah. So, Jupiter in Scorpio, Scorpio is letting go, dying and releasing, and Jupiter is a lot. So, say goodbye to a lot.

And, lets look at the upside. Welcome, welcome in the new, the new people, the new partners, the new energies. So, by January when Mercury comes back around, January 12th, the 3rd pass of Mercury over Saturn, that’s new commitments, new contracts, new conditions. You’re in a time where Saturn and Mercury is reflect, review, who can you trust? Who do you really want to be surrounded by? Who do you really want to hang out with? Who do you really want to be on stage with? Who do you really want to play with next year? Because this month of December and into January, this six-week energy, is going to be about, Saturn is also about separation. But I think particularly now that I would advise, is try not to be shocking, sudden and cause other people emotional trauma. Mars opposite Uranus is, goodbye! Like we never had anything, we never did anything, we never were building anything. I don’t even remember your name. It’s just like, goodbye! So, Mars/Uranus can be sudden, shocking and hurting. So as much as you can, you want to temper, relax, chill and be gentle with each other. Do your goodbyes, do your separations and do this ending with clearing space for the future and new to happen. You want to be doing it carefully through this holiday season. Some of this could be, goodbye to family, goodbye Mom, goodbye Dad, bye Sis, bye bro, bye kids. (*laughing)

The Mantra for this week:

As a human being,
I have access to the Truth,
And wanting, seeking, walking and talking it,
Is the ultimate proof.

So, speaking the truth, sharing the truth, I’ve let go of this illusion, I’ve let go of this dream, I got this revelation. It should be new truth. Because we’re constantly evolving and becoming more conscious of our unconscious. We have these new revelations. That’s who I was and now I see that I’m really this. And this is so Gemini. ‘Now I’m this’. It’s the shape shifter, the trickster.

The full Moon this weekend is kind of like, 'You thought I was this. Now I am this.' People pull their hair out with Geminis sometimes, ya know. But you've got to change. Gemini is about change. This full Moon is about change. This T-Square, Sun/Moon/Neptune is on the mutable axis – so mutate, it's a time to mutate. Evolution involves mutation - mutate or die. (*laughing)

I have access to the truth, just think about that. We have access to the truth. That doesn't mean that we are always in the truth or that we know the truth. There is shadow, there is Lilith. There are subconscious desires, there are suppressed instincts. Our consciousness and then we're connected to the collective unconscious which is Neptune, which has all this crap going on. You know what? You do not need multiple dimensions, hello, man. I just got back from India and we stopped in Dubai. There's all these women over there, they cover everything but their eyes. It's a miracle that they can even see. The guys are looking at Laura and she's got dresses covering her knees. And we had guys coming out of the house whispering, saying, 'you can see this lady's legs.' So, they run out of the house to look at her ankles. There are alternate realities on this planet, man. Whoa! You go to China, Africa, the Muslims, the Aborigines, it's huge diversities on this planet. This Sagittarius Sun and Mercury retrograding back and you know what? Expand your realities, expand your consciousness, expand your identity to embrace a bigger truth than your little Facebook friends and all this kind of hip, cool stuff that's happening in the capitalistic, materialistic west, that is so ego driven, we don't even want to get into it. (*laughing)

So, yes, we have access to the truth. Accessing the truth is to expand your truth. And then want it... seek it... speak it... talk it... walk it... that's bringing it down into that North Node in Leo, that's doing it. So, you want to be doing it.

One more time:

As a human being,
I have access to the Truth,
And wanting, seeking, walking and talking it,
Is the ultimate proof.

May you walk, speak and talk your truth, baby!

Namaste, Aloha, So Much Love!
