Opening Invocation

Pranic Healing, as you are aware, is about ENERGY. But much more than this, it is about VIBRATION. The key is to get the vibration of the energy of the Etheric body, Physical body and all its levels, first to be cleansed of all dirty, negative energy and thought-forms, so that the "energy" of the person remembers what it is supposed to be like, and because it is clean it is able to remember and vibrate at sufficient frequency to allow the healing energy to enter efficiently.

Preparation is very, very important to achieve this.

I do an invocation prayer and say it aloud for the patient to hear. We state clearly what we want fixed. This is important, not only for the patient's energy to vibrate at the correct frequencies, but to have your Guides know what you want of them (remember you may need to teach them new protocols).

I then ask the patient which ocean he/she wants to be washed in. It is important to be good, salty water to remove the dirty energy.

Get them to close their eyes, relax and let go, and from time to time say in their mind "I humbly accept the healing. I humbly accept the healing". (Aloud)

I tap them on the crown chakra and ask them to imagine a brilliant white light entering the body from the top of the head and going down to the parts they want fixed. By doing this they are concentrating and their etheric body which vibrates to allow the healing.

I visualise them being immersed in the ocean, and wash them saying "Remove all dirty energy, all negative energy, all negative elementals, and negative beings". Do this a number of times, aloud, so the patient and the guides are participating in the process. I then check to see that the etheric body and all its layers are clean.

Then I do the protocol general sweeping using Light Violet 2 or 3 times, then Electric Violet 3 times. In many cases the problem has been corrected before I need to treat it.

Remember it is all about intention and belief, and if you have absolute belief, IT WILL HAPPEN.
